GET RELIABLE INFORMATION.

We would advise all persons who are contemplating a trip to the West, either for pleasure or for permanent settlement, to first select the best and most direct route.

Now the fact that the Old Reliable Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad and connections, form the ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS AND DAY COACHES from Cleveland and Toledo via the T. W. & W. R. R., and from Chicago via the C. B. & Q. R. R. via Quincy to St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City, without change, making direct connections at these points with all trains for the West and South, should satisfy every one that this is the true route.

Should you desire a map of this line, or any information regarding time or rates, the same will be gladly furnished upon application, either by letter or in person, to T. PENNINGTON, General Pass. and Ticket Agent, Hannibal, Missouri.

A School-Boy On Corns.

Corns are of two kinds—vegetable and animal. Vegetable corn grows in rows, and animal corn grows on toes. There are several kinds of corn; there is the unicorn, capricorn, corn dodgers, field corn, and the corn which is the corn you feel most. It is said, I believe, that gophers like corn, but persons having corns do not like to “go fur” if they can help it. Corns have kernels, and corns have corns. Vegetable corn grows on ears, but animal corn grows on feet at the other end of the body. Another kind of corn is the acorn; these grow on oaks, but there is no hoar about the corn. The acorn is a corn with an indefinite article indeed. Try it and see. Many a man when he has a corn wishes it was an acorn. Folks that have corns sometimes send for a doctor, and if the doctor himself is corned he probably won't do as well as if he isn't. The doctor says corns are produced by tight boots and shoes, which is probably the reason why when a man is tight they say he is corned. If a farmer manages well he can get a good deal of corn on an acre, but I know of a farmer that has one corn that makes the biggest acher on his farm. The bigger crop of vegetable corn a man raises the better he likes it; but the bigger crop of animal corn he raises the better he does not like it. Another kind of corn is the corn dodger. The way it is made is very simple, and is as follows—That is if you want to know: You go along the street and meet a man you know has a corn, and a rough character; then you step on the toe that has a corn on it, and see if you don't have occasion to dodge. In that way you will find out what a corn dodger is. —Hartford Post.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25, '76.
A PROCLAMATION.

By the President of the United States of America.

From year to year we have been accustomed to pause in our daily pursuits and set apart a time to offer our thanks to the Almighty God for special blessings he has vouchsafed to us, with our prayers for a continuance thereof. We have at this time equal reason to be thankful for his continued protection and many material blessings which have been bestowed. In addition to these favors accorded to us as individuals, we have special occasion to express our hearty thanks to Almighty God that by his providence and guidance our Government established a century ago, has been enabled to fulfill the purpose of its founders in offering an asylum to the people of every race, securing civil and religious liberty within its borders, and meeting out to every individual alike justice and equality before the law. It is moreover especially our duty to offer our humble prayers to the Father of all mercies for a continuance of his divine favor to our Nation and to individuals. By reason of all these considerations, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do recommend to the people of the United States to devote the 30th day of November, next, to an expression of their thanks and prayers to Almighty God, and, having aside their daily avocations, and all secular occupations, to assemble in their respective places of worship and observe such day as a day of thanksgiving and rest. In witness thereof, etc.

U. S. GRANT.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF ILLINOIS.

The official vote of the State is now all in, and the figures are as follows:

Hayes.....278,228
Tilden.....259,602
Cooper.....17,171

Hayes' majority.....118,626

GOVERNOR.

Cullom.....279,266
Steward.....372,432

Cullom's majority.....6,934

The vote on Lieutenant Governor, stands: Shuman, 277,710; Glenn, 256,064; Pickrell, 17,783. Shuman's plurality over Glenn and Pickrell, 3,843. Harlow's majority will be about 22,500, and that of Needles over Hise, about the same as Cullom's.

The New York Herald publishes conspicuously a very long letter from the Hon. Clarkson N. Potter in regard to the election in Louisiana. The Herald says that Potter is a near neighbor of Tilden, and an intimate personal friend, and it thinks "what Potter has written may as well be regarded as Tilden's programme as well as pronouncements on the subject of the presidency. The letter lays down the democratic line of action, so far as Tilden and Potter can control it, in case the vote of Louisiana is counted for Hayes by the returning board.

The democratic house will be present in full force, and when the Louisiana certificates are opened objections will be made to counting those votes. If the two houses disagree, the representatives will adhere to their own decision. At the end of the count they will decide that there has been no election in the electoral college, and proceed at once to elect a president. This is undoubtedly the settled democratic programme. This is the method of procedure the party chiefs have deliberately resolved to adopt. We commend their boldness in placing it so early before the public, and submitting it to the ordeal of public discussion. More than two months will intervene before they will need to put it in force, and in the meantime it will be the great argumentative battle ground of the political parties.

"Kallode's Returning Board may count votes for Electors, but Congress counts Electoral votes."

"We repeat that there is no law under which Mr. Hayes can now be made President, except the law of force."—St. Louis Times.

You mean that the Democratic House will object to counting South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana, if those States are certified for Hayes. Then the Senate can object to Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia. The Vice President can declare one man elected. The House, assuming that there has been a failure to elect by the Electors, are committed to go further and also "elect" a President. Do you not see that this is a dangerous, down-hill road? If we would keep the country together and keep the peace, we must stick to the constitutional limitation of the powers of Congress in the Presidential election. The assertion that Hayes can only be made President by the law of force is in effect a threat. If the votes of Louisiana and Florida are sent to the Vice President for Hayes, and all his Electoral votes stick, giving him 185 votes on the face of the certificates, he will be the President by the express declaration of the Constitution, and opposition will be revolutionary.—Cincinnati Commercial.

AUTHORIZED JUDICIAL INTER-MEDDLING.

(From the Chicago Times.)

The action of the returning board in South Carolina, in disregarding the mandatory process of the supreme court, is vehemently denounced by the partisans who have thus been arbitrarily "counted out," as an outrageous "defiance and contempt of court," as "revolutionary," and so on. These denunciations are an expression of feeling rather than of judgment. They are manifestations of the not unwarranted indignation of men who have, under the circumstances of this particular case, a greater respect for law than for the forms of law. Under different circumstances, the feelings of the same men would be manifested in just the reverse way.

The course of the board was an outrage, undoubtedly. But it was not an outrage against the court. Most probably it was an outrage committed in pursuance of the forms of the status quo, that political monstrosity, that appliance of executive absolutism, the returning board.

Assuming that the South Carolina statute corresponds to the Louisiana statute in pretending to confer upon the canvassing board power to throw out any returns which may be necessary to reverse the result of the election, it is plain that the court had no jurisdiction of the subject-matter, and its attempt to dictate the manner in which the board should exercise its office was an unwarranted assumption of power. This was exactly the case which arose in this city, a little over a year ago, upon the election to adopt the new city charter. It was asserted, before the election had been fully declared, that monstrous frauds had been perpetrated. Upon the basis of these assertions, some persons petitioned the court of chancery for an injunction upon the canvassing body to restrain them from canvassing and declaring the result. The court assumed jurisdiction, and granted the writ prayed for, temporarily, citing the members of the board to appear and show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. The board disregarded the order of the court, canvassed the returns and proclaimed the result, as the letter of the statute authorized them to do. The court was very mad about it, and attached the whole crowd, including half a dozen lawyers who were suspected to have given them legal advice upon the subject, and sentenced them to be imprisoned, fined, and otherwise punished for contempt of its mandate. The respondents carried the matter up to the supreme court, which very promptly and effectively hoisted the chancellor out of water by letting him know that a court of chancery could not take jurisdiction of the subject-matter; that the duty of the board was to proceed to the discharge of its office according to the terms of the statute; that it was not in the judicial province to dictate to a different branch of government in the discharge of its office; and that if the election was canvassed by fraud, the remedy must be found in a contest of the result of legally declared, in the way provided by law.

The case in South Carolina is almost exactly analogous to the Chicago case. The result of the election was not and could not be known until the returns were canvassed and declared. To canvass the returns was certainly no part of the office of the court, nor was it any part of the judicial office to say how the canvassing should be done, or how the canvassing body should or should not proceed in the discharge of its office. If the canvassing body had refused or neglected to discharge its office, the court, upon a proper exhibition of the facts, might properly have issued its mandate commanding the canvass to proceed; but in so doing the court could not, without usurpation of an office not its own, have prescribed any rule of proceeding. That is the legislative office, and that office the legislature of South Carolina has, no doubt, exercised in the act of creating the returning board. No doubt, too, the legislature in so doing has transcended its own power by assuming to devolve judicial power upon the returning board, but the court cannot determine that upon an application for a writ of mandamus or of injunction. The cause of wonder is, not that the returning board has paid no attention to the mandate of the court, but that the supreme court of South Carolina should have been induced to issue a mandate prescribing and commanding how the returning board should and should not discharge its office.

Mr. Hampton characterizes the action of the canvassers as "unprecedented," which, as the Chicago case proves, is not the fact. He also speaks of it as showing not only their contempt and defiance of the supreme court of the state, but their utter disregard of their official integrity. Not only our Illinois supreme court, but the supreme court of the United States (in the Wheeling bridge case) and other hardly less eminent judicial authorities, have decided that disobedience of an order of court, where a court could not take jurisdiction of the subject matter, is no contempt and no defiance of the judicial dignity or authority. The action of the S. Carolina board was not a contempt of court. Whether it was a disregard of their official integrity or not depends upon what the statute prescribes as their official duty. That the statute is both atrocious and unconstitutional, and the canvassers are fit instruments for its worst possible application, few candid people can very well doubt.

What, then, is the remedy for this act of a canvassing board whose proximate effect is to cheat the lawful voters of South Carolina out of their elec-

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 24.

Arguments in the injunction and mandamus cases, were continued to day, before Judge White. Mr. Sellers and Judge Biddle of Philadelphia, in speeches, and Gov. Brown of Georgia, by written argument, appeared for the Democrats, and Gen. Barlow and Judge Kimmons, for the Republicans. The court adjourned without rendering a decision. It will possibly decide to-night; certainly to-morrow.

There is no change in the situation. There are three counties to hear from and it will be Monday before all returns are in, possibly later. The result from the face of the returns will be very close. It is possible, unless the cases now pending should go to the supreme court, that the canvass will begin Monday or Tuesday, if appeal is not made. The canvass will probably run up to the 5th of December, no matter when it is opened.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Gov.

Hendricks and his wife visited Gov. Tilden, this morning, and remained with him about half an hour.

Gov. Tilden and Gov. Hendricks proceeded to-night, with A. S. Hewitt, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Another report says, Governor Hendricks, Governor Tilden, ex-Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania, Hon. Abram S. Hewitt and wife, and Mrs. Hendricks, dined with Hon. Peter Cooper, to-night.

Gov. Hendricks leaves for home to-morrow.

The following statement was made by Gov. Hendricks: He did not come here for the purpose of holding a conference. He states that he is so perfectly convinced that the feeling of honest men throughout the country is so general that Tilden has been elected, and the sense of justice is so strong, that the corrupt, canvassing boards of the south will not dare to set public opinion at defiance, and if they do make the attempt, they will fail in their purposes.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 24—The court at 4 p.m. in response to the rule issued at the morning session, to the board of canvassers to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt of court, in refusing to obey its mandates, issued on Wednesday, United States District Attorney Corbin, counsel for the board introduced an affidavit, asking for further time.

The court stated that if he would indicate the line of their defense, or assure the court that they would obey its mandates, further time would be granted. He would not do this and the request was refused. Counsel for relators were instructed to draw an order, but as the recitation of all proceedings was required as a fiat facias to the order to commit the board for contempt, they requested until to-morrow morning to file it. The court said that they hoped the board would, in the morning, obey its mandate; and purge the contempt. If they do not, they will be committed to jail.

Brown of Georgia, by written argument, appeared for the Democrats, and Gen. Barlow and Judge Kimmons, for the Republicans. The court adjourned without rendering a decision. It will possibly decide to-night; certainly to-morrow.

There is no change in the situation. There are three counties to hear from and it will be Monday before all returns are in, possibly later. The result from the face of the returns will be very close. It is possible, unless the cases now pending should go to the supreme court, that the canvass will begin Monday or Tuesday, if appeal is not made. The canvass will probably run up to the 5th of December, no matter when it is opened.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Gov.

Hendricks and his wife visited Gov. Tilden, this morning, and remained with him about half an hour.

Gov. Tilden and Gov. Hendricks proceeded to-night, with A. S. Hewitt, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Another report says, Governor Hendricks, Governor Tilden, ex-Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania, Hon. Abram S. Hewitt and wife, and Mrs. Hendricks, dined with Hon. Peter Cooper, to-night.

Gov. Hendricks leaves for home to-morrow.

The following statement was made by Gov. Hendricks: He did not come here for the purpose of holding a conference. He states that he is so perfectly convinced that the feeling of honest men throughout the country is so general that Tilden has been elected, and the sense of justice is so strong, that the corrupt, canvassing boards of the south will not dare to set public opinion at defiance, and if they do make the attempt, they will fail in their purposes.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 24—The

court at 4 p.m. in response to the rule issued at the morning session, to the board of canvassers to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt of court, in refusing to obey its mandates, issued on Wednesday, United States District Attorney Corbin, counsel for the board introduced an affidavit, asking for further time.

The court stated that if he would indicate the line of their defense, or assure the court that they would obey its mandates, further time would be granted. He would not do this and the request was refused. Counsel for relators were instructed to draw an order, but as the recitation of all proceedings was required as a fiat facias to the order to commit the board for contempt, they requested until to-morrow morning to file it. The court said that they hoped the board would, in the morning, obey its mandate; and purge the contempt. If they do not, they will be committed to jail.

PALMER ON CIVIL WAR.

New Orleans special to the Cincinnati Commercial.

Governor Palmer tells me he hasn't the least fear of civil war, notwithstanding all the war talk. He says that either party in the north will submit to injustice, and be cheated out of the presidency before they will fight. He says war would last at least four years, and in that time there is another election, which would settle matters and avenge whatever wrong is done in the present case. H. V. REDFIELD.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 24.

Arguments in the injunction and mandamus cases, were continued to day, before Judge White. Mr. Sellers and Judge Biddle of Philadelphia, in speeches, and Gov. Brown of Georgia, by written argument, appeared for the Democrats, and Gen. Barlow and Judge Kimmons, for the Republicans. The court adjourned without rendering a decision. It will possibly decide to-night; certainly to-morrow.
